

Presenting analytic findings

- Find what is interesting
- Tell a story

Examples

OMNY payments have quickly outpaced Metrocard use

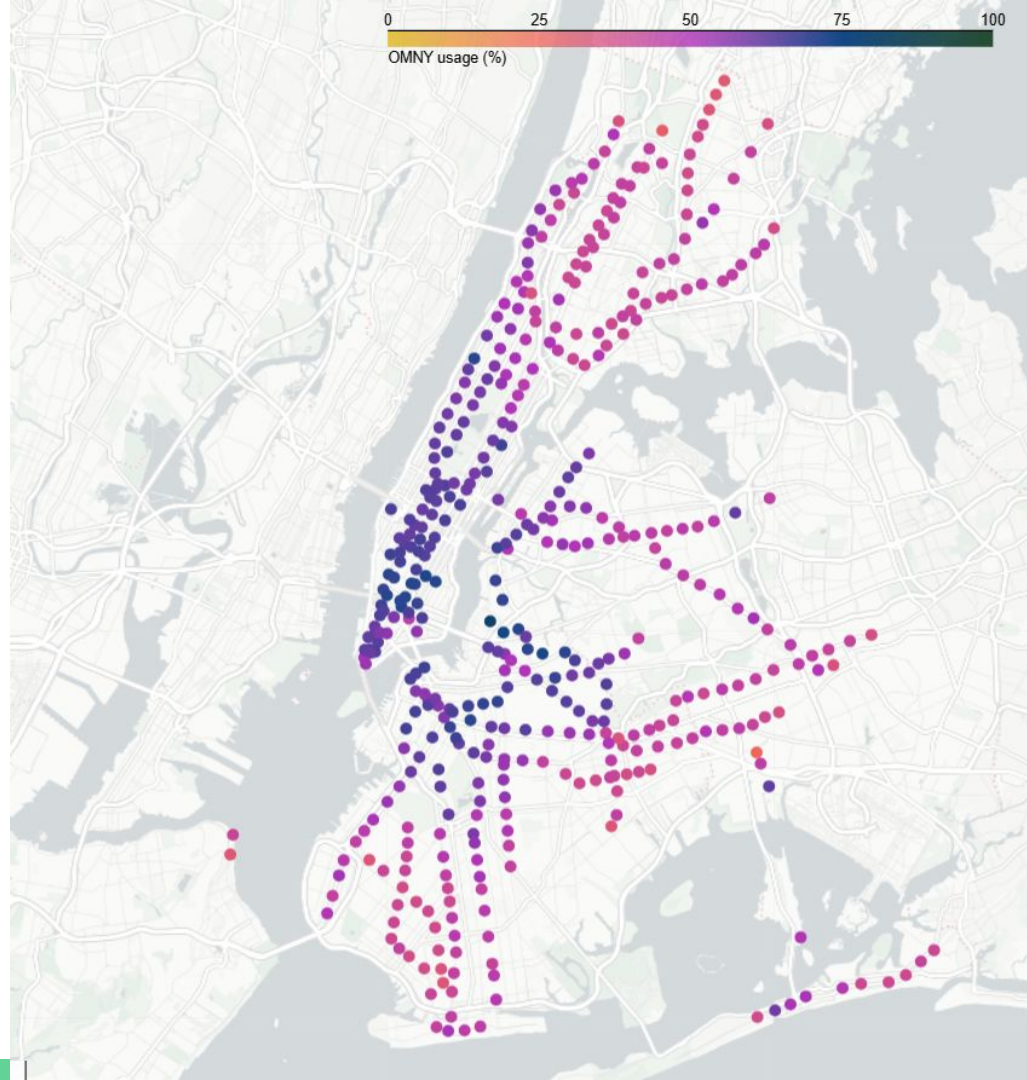

- OMNY use surpassed Metrocard use in Jan 2024
- OMNY use accelerated in Q3 2024

OMNY adoption lags in outer boroughs

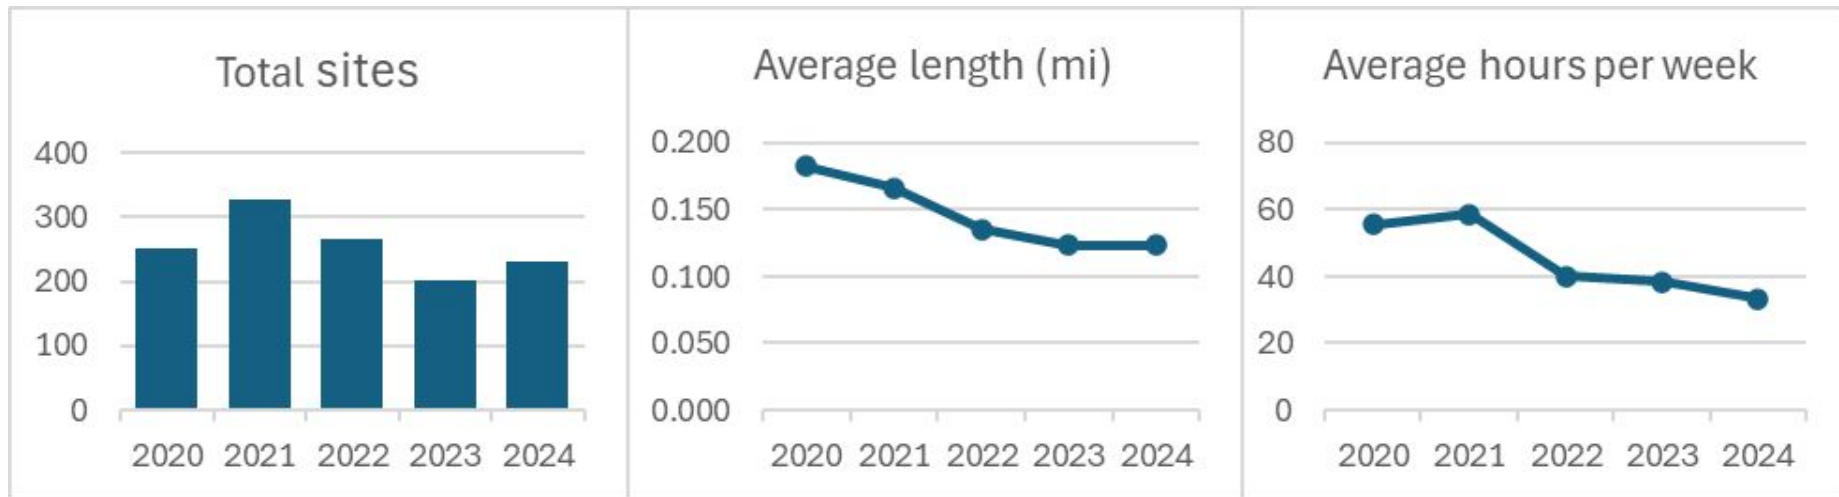

MTA should:

- increase outreach
- add OMNY card dispensers

to enable all riders to use OMNY

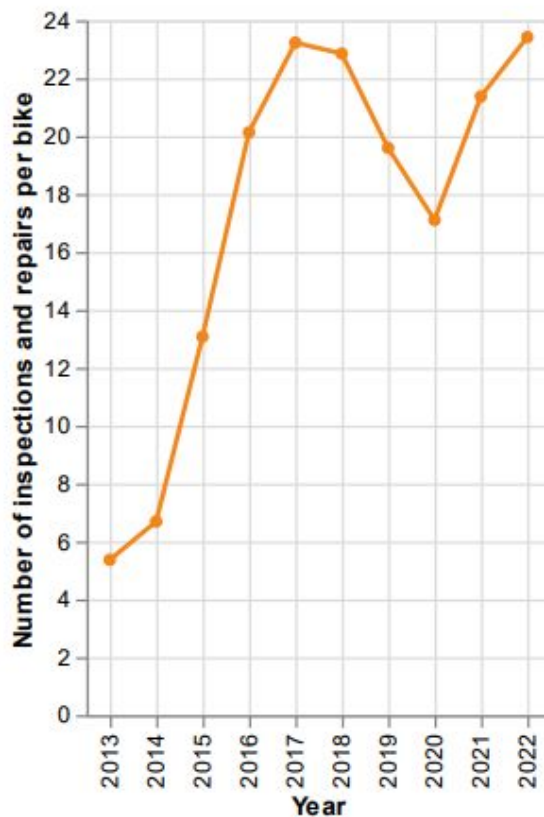

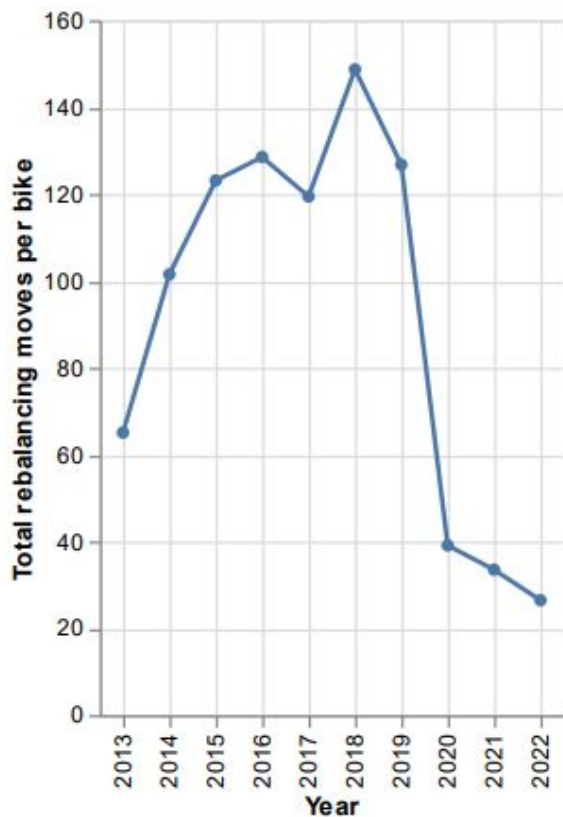

Open Streets have withered after early success

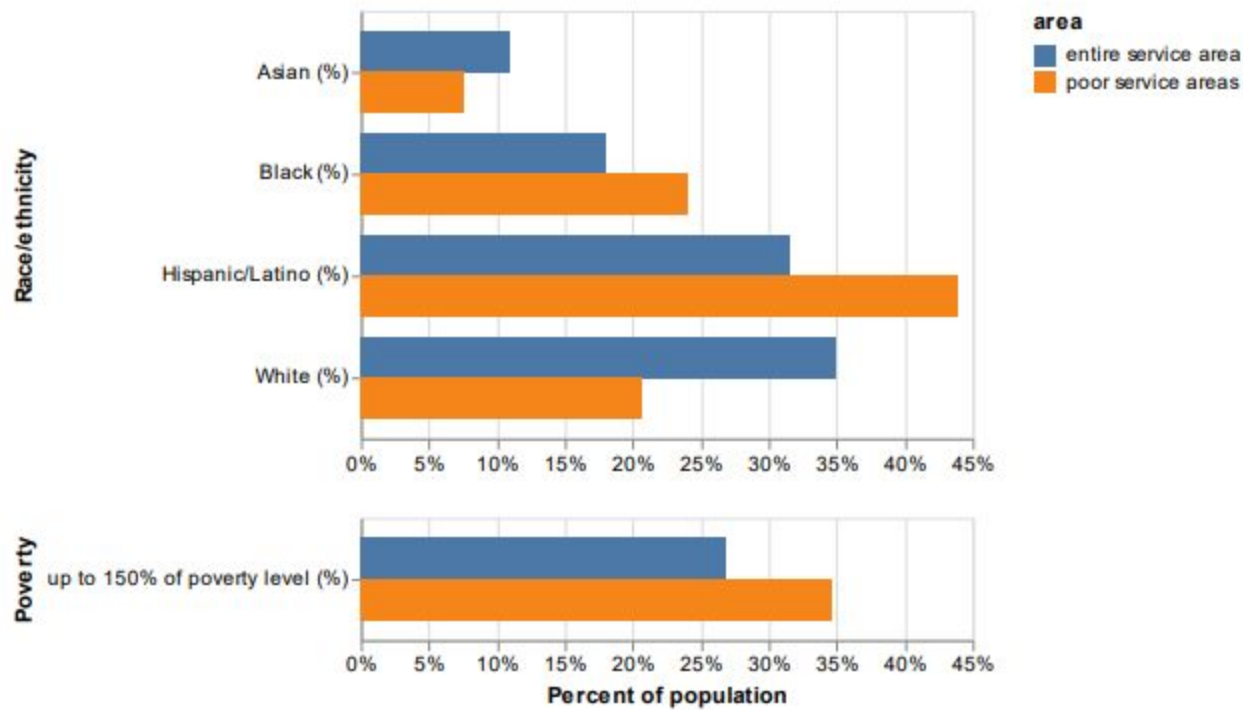

The City must continue to fund Open Street sponsors to keep this promising program alive

Citi Bike is make fewer rebalancing moves than ever

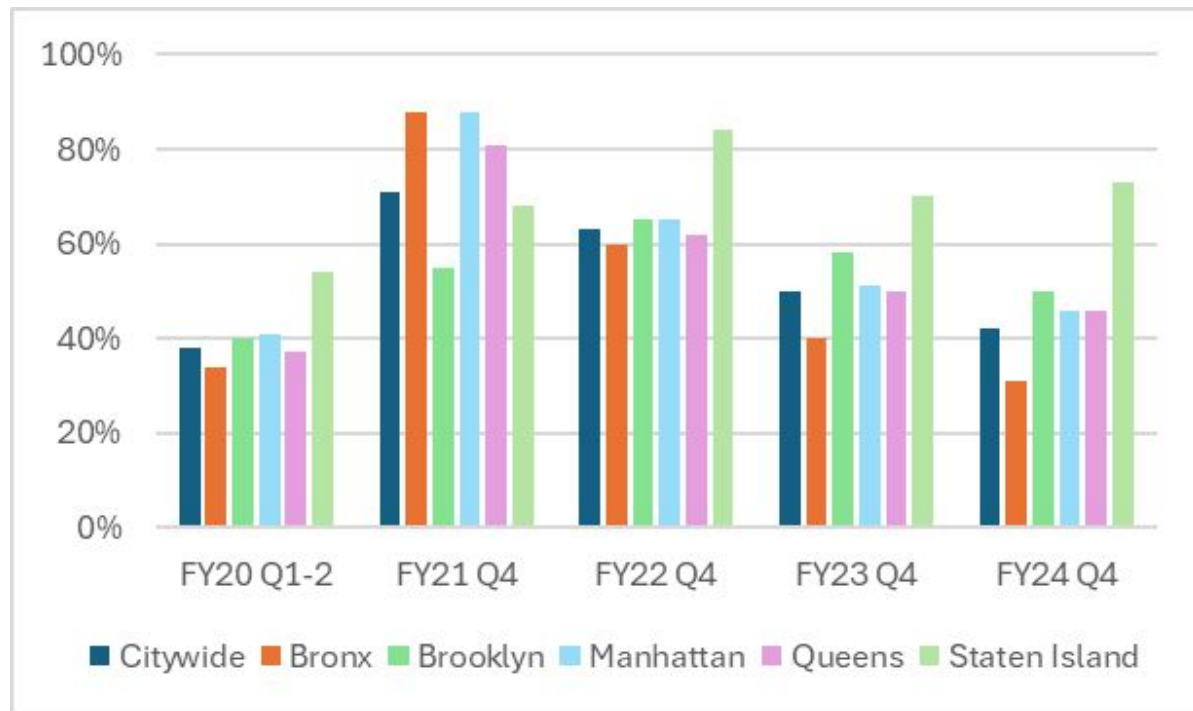

While the number of relocations has decreased, bike repair needs are ticking up

Figure 6: Racial/ethnic and income characteristics of areas with poor service

More Bronx tenants face eviction without legal representation

- Despite a “right to counsel” policy, fewer tenants have lawyers when facing eviction
- The Bronx has the highest rates of eviction and lowest rates of representation

Rate of representation for tenants facing eviction

From 2020 – 2024
eviction cases rose 440%
and are concentrated in communities of color

Filings per 1,000 rental units

Top 10 ZIP codes with highest eviction rates

NYC neighborhoods have vastly different imprisonment rates

The 42% of people in New York prisons from NYC are primarily from a handful of neighborhoods.

Formerly incarcerated people earn far less than the general population

Median weekly earnings of people released from federal prison in 2010 during their first and sixteenth quarters post-release, compared to median weekly earnings of the US population in 2010 and 2014.

<https://www.prisonpolicy.org/blog/2022/02/08/employment/>

Sources: Calculated by the Prison Policy Initiative from Bureau of Justice Statistics, Employment of Persons Released from Federal Prison in 2010, Table 6, and Social Security Administration, Wage Statistics for 2010 and 2014.

PRISON
POLICY INITIATIVE